AUDITOR GENERAL RELEASES LATEST FOLLOW-UP REPORT

VICTORIA – Auditor General John Doyle has released his annual spring follow-up report, with new self-reported updates on progress by auditees on 11 pieces of work. These self-assessment forms, published unedited and in their entirety, detail progress and plans on implementing 55 of the Auditor General's recommendations.

"While I'm pleased to note that well over a third of the recommendations in this follow-up are reported as being addressed, that leaves more than half where significant work is still required," said Doyle. "A number of these relate to known IT risks, and I will expect these to be fully or substantially implemented in time for my fall follow-up report."

"Furthermore, I am not satisfied with government's resistance to, and lack of action on, the two recommendations I made in my report on BC Hydro's use of rate-regulated accounting. As always, I will continue to follow up on recommendations that are only partially implemented, or where no substantial action has been taken."

The report also contains a cumulative update of the 284 recommendations followed-up on since October 2009. Of these, 72% have been addressed: 61% have been fully or substantially implemented and 11% were addressed through alternative action by the respective agency.

"Follow-ups are a necessary process for ensuring that recommendations are addressed and that British Columbians receive full value from my Office's work," said Doyle. "With 72% of 284 recommendations addressed, follow-up reports demonstrate the positive results that can and will continue to be achieved through the audit and review processes."

On behalf of the Legislature's Select Standing Committee on Public Accounts, the Office of the Auditor General follows up with audited agencies in varying formats, including action plans, agency self-assessments, progress assessments and progress audits.
